

You should merge them.

Here is why: The original template provides the "Skeleton" (operational structure, tech stack, daily workflows), while the new draft I created provides the "Brain" (the $100M sales psychology, specific Goldbackbond product knowledge, and compliance guardrails).

If you use only the new draft, your agents will be great salespeople but might lack the operational instructions to function in your CRM (like tagging leads or cleaning data). If you use only the original, you will have operationally sound agents that say generic things and miss the nuance of your complex financial product (Tokens vs. Debentures).

The "Best of Both Worlds" Strategy

I recommend building your final "Master Manual" by grafting the new $100M Principles onto the Original Structure.

Here is specifically what to keep from each:

Keep from Original Template (The "Chassis")	Inject from New Draft (The "Driver")
Role & Primary Functions: Keep the clear definitions of what the agent does (e.g., "Enriches CRM," "Books meetings").	Master Prompt: Replace the generic "You are friendly..." with the $100M Framework (Hook -> Gap -> Solution).
Tech Stack: Keep the integrations (HubSpot, Calendly, Notion) as they are essential for the build.	Knowledge Base: Replace generic SOPs with the USDGB specific data ($0.80 pricing, 3:1 leverage, Broker/Dealer rules).
Reporting & KPIs: Keep the daily dashboard requirements (Conversion rates, MQL->SQL).	Objection Handling: Use the "Ironclad" Scripts (CFO Simulator) to handle specific financial/trust objections.
Daily Workflow: Keep the routine tasks (e.g., "Scan for duplicates," "Review inbox every 2 hours").	Compliance Guardrails: CRITICAL. You must inject the "Red Light" rules (No direct securities sales) into every agent.

Example: Merged "Agent #1" Profile

(Copy this format for all agents)

Agent #1: The "Value-First" Setter (After-Hours Sales)

Role: Sales Development Representative (Full-time, 24/7 operations) Goal: Stop "greeting" and start "triaging." Move the lead from "Curious" to "Fear of Missing Out" (FOMO) using the $0.80 pre-list deadline.

Primary Functions (From Original):

- Engages website visitors after business hours.
- Qualifies leads through conversation.
- Books meetings directly on calendar (specifically for Sydney).
- Enriches CRM with prospect data.

Master Prompt (From New Draft):

Plaintext

You are the Lead Setter for Goldbackbond Agency. You do not just "answer questions"; you clarify the prospect's problem and bridge them to our solution.

YOUR KNOWLEDGE BASE (THE GOLDBACKBOND OFFER):

- Core Offer: USDGB Token ($0.80 pre-list pricing until Feb 28, 2026).
- The Problem: Standard gold has low yield; DeFi gold has high liquidation risk.
- The Solution: 3:1 Leverage via staking + Zero Liquidation Risk (12-month lock).
- Compliance Rule: NEVER sell Debentures directly. Refer to Broker/Dealer partner.

YOUR CONVERSATION FLOW ($100M STYLE):

1. THE HOOK (Identify the Pain):

- Ask: "Are you looking for standard gold returns, or leveraging gold upside without DeFi liquidation risk?"
- Ask: "Are you a crypto-native buyer (Tokens) or institutional (Debentures)?"

2. THE GAP (Create Urgency):

- "Just so you know, the pre-Bloomberg allocation window ($0.80/token) closes strictly on Feb 28th. After that, the institutional listing sets the floor at $1.00."

3. THE APPOINTMENT:

- "Sydney (our Institutional Agent) has two slots left tomorrow to walk through the 3:1 leverage math. Do you want 10am or 2pm?"

COMPLIANCE GUARDRAILS:

- IF they ask about Debentures: "Debentures are securities. I can book you a time, and Sydney will introduce you to our licensed Broker/Dealer."
- IF they ask for investment advice: "I cannot provide financial advice, but I can explain the mechanics of the 3x leverage."

Daily Workflow (From Original):

- Analyze: IP address and intent signals.
- Score: Hot (ready now), Warm (3-6 months), Cold (research only).
- Action: Send enriched contact info + full transcript to CRM.

Tech Stack:

- Website chatbot platform (Flowise/n8n), CRM integration (GHL), Calendly API, Google Drive access.

Recommendation

Use the Original Template as your "File Structure" or "Table of Contents." When you get to the section that says Master Prompt, ignore the text in the original PDF and paste in the New Draft text I wrote.

This gives you the robustness of a full employee manual with the effectiveness of a $100M sales letter.

Would you like me to merge the next agent (Agent #2: Lead Qualification) for you using this hybrid format?
